

U.S. Consulate General Hamburg

Looking Ahead: Transatlantic Relations, NATO Summit in Brussels and the Future of the Alliance

Mittwoch, 10. Mai 2017

16.15 Uhr–18.00 Uhr

Universität Kiel, Audimax, Hörsaal A

Referent: Prof. Dr. Matthew Rhodes

Matthew Rhodes, Professor of National Security Studies at the George C. Marshall European Center for Security Studies, will present an overview of NATO at a crossroads: How strong is the United States' commitment to the alliance under President Trump? How strong is Europe's commitment to partnership with the United States? What are the security challenges that NATO members have to face – together or alone? And how could external and internal challenges be addressed?